

STUDENT SUCCESS WORKSHOP

Learn strategies and tools to develop personal growth and increased success in students

Immediately preceding the 2022 PE Conference!

May 23, 2022 at Virginia State University

The Student Success Workshop is based on the premise that a relatively new, key role for educators in higher education is that of a mentor—one who fosters the growth and development of cognitive, social, and affective skills. Mentoring is critical for the student who aspires to take ownership of his or her own learning and become a self-grower. Self-growers develop strong self-assessment skills that help them to continually improve their own performance and ultimately mentor their own growth. A successful student is one who not only succeeds academically but also continues beyond college to develop skills that make success possible in both career and life.

Participant Benefits:

Learn to design and build effective learning teams and facilitate in a cooperative learning environment.

Learn to foster learner ownership and implement strategies for resistance to behavioral change.

Learn to create a learning environment where the practice of assessment consistently elevates performance.

Learn to facilitate active learning with timely and constructive interventions on key issues & skills.

Facilitator:

Dr. Daniel K. Apple is the President of Pacific Crest, an educational consultancy that has provided development workshops for more than 20,000 educators.

Cost: PE Conference Attendees
$75 ($30 for students)

Workshop only
$150 ($75 for students)
($100 VSU faculty/staff or Emeritus)

Registration:

For more information, contact:
Dan Apple (dan@pcrest.com)
630-853-7535

To register for this event, visit:
www.processeducation.org/peconf
and use the conference registration form

Pacific Crest

The Leader for Process Education™
www.pcrest.com

